COUNT I

INFRINGEMENT OF U.S. PATENT NO. 6,437,692

15. SIPCO restates and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 14 of this Complaint and incorporates them by reference.

16. Defendants have infringed and continue to infringe one or more claims of the '692 Patent, directly, contributorily, and/or by inducement, by making, using, selling, and/or offering for sale in this country, and/or importing into this country, and inducing others to use, without license, certain products and services that consist of, employ and/or incorporate infringing wireless network products and services, including without limitation wireless network technology similar to that found in its Smart Grid system, known in part as the Energy Smart Miami ("ESM") initiative, and components thereof, in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271. In particular, the infringing systems and components include, without limitation, wireless network technology found in the utility meters, applications and control systems, wireless communications protocols, devices, network interface cards, computer devices, enabling software, data collection and processing, and associated communications platforms, gateways, and controls.

17. The acts of infringement of the '692 Patent by the Defendants, and each of them, have caused damage to SIPCO, and SIPCO is entitled to recover from the Defendants, and each of them, the damages sustained by SIPCO as a result of Defendants' wrongful acts in an amount subject to proof at trial. The infringement of SIPCO's exclusive rights under the '692 Patent by Defendants, and each of them, will continue to damage SIPCO, causing irreparable harm, for which there is no adequate remedy at law, unless enjoined by this Court.

18. The Defendants, and each of them, have had actual or constructive knowledge of the '692 Patent, yet each of them continues to infringe said patent. The infringement of the '692 Patent by the Defendants, and each of them, is willful and deliberate, entitling SIPCO to increased damages under 35 U.S.C. § 284 and to attorneys' fees and costs incurred in prosecuting this action under 35 U.S.C. § 285.

In particular, the infringing systems and components include, without limitation, wireless network technology found in the utility meters, applications and control systems, wireless communications protocols, devices, network interface cards, computer devices, enabling software, data collection and processing, and associated communications platforms, gateways, and controls.

The infringement of SIPCO's exclusive rights under the '767 Patent by the Defendants, and each of them, will continue to damage SIPCO, causing irreparable harm, for which there is no adequate remedy at law, unless enjoined by this Court.

22. The Defendants, and each of them, have had actual or constructive knowledge of the '767 Patent, yet each of them continues to infringe said patent. The infringement of the '767 Patent by the Defendants, and each of them, is willful and deliberate, entitling SIPCO to increased damages under 35 U.S.C. § 284 and to attorneys' fees and costs incurred in prosecuting this action under 35 U.S.C. § 285.

COUNT III
